

HERE IS AN EXAMPLE OF MY STORY

I was a full time Head Chef on board Super Yachts cooking for the rich and famous. I traveled extensively with my job so much so I used to forget what country I was in. The money was great but the hours..... 19 hour work days.. yes you read correctly 19 hours! with 0 days off for 7 months at a time. I reached a breaking point when I was in Sardinia, I had gotten 4 hours sleep in 2 days and I was so high on caffeine I was shaking. One afternoon while slaving away in the heat I looked out of a tiny porthole (window) from my Galley (kitchen) and saw the guests jumping into this amazing clear blue water everyone was having so much fun. I got this strange feeling of happiness for them but then a sense of sadness for me because I was missing out on so much of my own life. I dedicated my life to my job away from my family and friends. I was making really good money but was money worth my happiness?

NEVER!

One day after a very long 10 day charter on the yacht I had a slight melt down, I think it was the lack of sleep, lack of time off and lack of time to actually eat. I just fell to the floor and felt a sense of desperation. I decided that's it, I can't do this to myself any more.

I want to be the Guest on board not the Crew. I gave in my notice 2 days later. The sense of relief I felt was immeasurable. I've never looked back.

had no idea what I was going to do after yachting. But that was kind of exciting! One night while scrolling through Facebook I saw an Ad about Online marketing and Mentorship/Business coaching. It's so unlike me to even click on something like that but after talking to the person who placed the ad and saw exactly what they do I was blown away. After all I had nothing to lose and everything to gain!

Online marketing has given me what I've been looking for... Time freedom and money freedom as well. Yes it took a lot of hard work and at times I questioned what I was even doing but I pushed forward and I can't even express how happy I am that I pursued this. It paid off and I haven't looked back since.

Online Marketing is such an amazing opportunity.

I now teach people how to start an Online Marketing business together with my business partners. This could be terrifying for most people because there is so much information out there but no one actually shows you step by step what you need to be doing. We help build your business and we Mentor and Coach you! One on One, we jump on weekly calls with you and show you what your next step needs to be.

I knew I couldn't do it alone, mainly because I had no idea what I was doing and how many components needed to be in place to actually start getting the results I've always dreamed about.

So if you feel like it's finally time to make that move and jump on board and start living the life you want and working for yourself and your own dreams not someone else's then let's talk!
